

The Mathieu Vingt-Huit Orphanage

For over fourteen years Matthew Twenty-Eight, Inc. has provided financial support for the Mathieu Vingt-Huit Orphanage in Bohoc, Haiti. Located in the Central Plateau, this mission-orphanage cares for more than 40 orphans. Within this central region of the island nation, we also operate a grist mill, fish farm, agriculture project, and multiple feeding centers.

Your Group Can Join Us on a Mission Trip

Our leaders escort youth and adult mission groups to work with the Haitian Christians. We focus on activities that are not easily done by the locals such as medical clinics, Bible teaching, VBS, and evangelizing using films and contemporary church music that will enhance the worship services. These teams live among the Haitians on the orphanage premises, learn Creole songs, and even travel to a remote village where they assist in a clinic and pray with the residents. Meeting and working with the Haitians is a special experience you will never forget.

Hein Vingerling and Mark Hopkins, the leaders of Matthew Twenty-Eight, Inc. have been accompanying our mission and relief trips. You can follow the progress on the blog maintained at our website. Please visit www.matthew28.org and keep them in your prayers.
